

How to Spark Employee Participation

Thursday, June 5, 2014, 7:30am-11am (workshop will begin at 8am)

The Atlantic Host, Bathurst

$30 (HST included) per participant

Hot buffet breakfast provided

Are you finding it difficult to obtain participation from your employees?

If you are using traditional “brainstorming” techniques in your meetings and not achieving the results you desire, you can learn a new approach to problem-solving with techniques based on theories of learning, participation, and motivation.

You will learn:

- Gardner’s multiple intelligences and what it means to your bottom line
- How to structure a team meeting and maintain participation
- How to use the human capital of your company to remain competitive, spark innovation, and solve problems

Facilitator: Reno Michel Haché, R2 Ressources Humaines
